United Way To Convene Community Service Forum

The United Way of Lexington-Rockbridge County has scheduled a forum at the Piovano Room of the Rockbridge Regional Library at 138 South Main Street in Lexington Tuesday morning, October 21st. The purpose of the forum will be to provide community service organizations an opportunity to network and to discuss issues of common concern.

Authorities in a variety of fields have been invited to participate. Among these are practitioners in fields of financial resources, legal and administrative matters, insurance, small business development, research, volunteer resources, and emerging community needs.

United Way hopes that this gathering will initiate an ongoing dialogue among community service providers and resources to address common needs and concerns and to facilitate more effective service delivery.

“United Way anticipates that this forum will be a good first step in undertaking our community-based capacity-building initiative,” said Executive Director David Dax. “Because the human needs in our community are so great – especially in these difficult economic and political times – that we hope for a good turnout.”

Anyone who is interested in attending this forum should contact Dax at 540-463-4482 or at ddax@unitedwaylexva.org for more information.
